

Puerto Rico Prop Busters January 15, 2006

On January 15, the Puerto Rico Prop Busters, the only Control Line club in Puerto Rico, celebrated its Christmas party. The party was a definite success with a full bar and buffet table. Most of the club's members have been flying for over 30 years. Some of the members have even competed in the Nats, placing in very respectable positions.

It was very nice to see the members and their spouses having a great time. As a matter of fact, most spouses are very supporting of the hobby. Some even joked that they were sorry their husbands didn't fly more.

In the first picture we have some of the club's members sitting very close to the buffet table, including the club's president, Mr. Parodi at the extreme right. Nice spot. On the second picture we have on of the members, Mr. Alex Becerril obeying his beautiful daughter's instructions.

I hope I'm invited to next year's party. After all, the company, the food and the wine were excellent.
